Meanwhile from King Drags Closer
Around Nihil. Despite Reported
Gains of the French Against the Bulgarians; Russia Striking Hard.

By Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 2.—Public interest is divided today between Premier Asquith's speech in the House of Commons and Rumania's reported intention to throw her lot with the Entente Allies. News coming by way of Paris lent support to the growing impression that Rumania is preparing to intervene in the war.

By Royal decree, new classes of Rumanian recruits are being mobilized. Vienna reports that "a grave question" may arise between Austria and Rumania in connection with the proposed use of the lower Danube to transport Russian troops to Bulgaria. Little news comes direct from Bucharest, as the censorship is enforced so strictly that even ordinary messages are stopped, but it is known the agitation in favor of war is spreading through the army.

The Austrian, German and Bulgarian armies are drawing the net more closely around Nihil. In the south the French assert they have inflicted considerable losses on the Bulgarians, who are reported to have been thrown back on the right bank of the Vardar.

The only political development of note in the Balkans is a change of tone in the ministerial press of Athens, which is publishing apparently independent articles of a nature friendly to the Entente Allies. Although still holding Greece must maintain her policy of benevolent neutrality.

Along the eastern front there is evidence of a considerable extension of the Russian offensive. The Russian army, as reported by official reports from both sides, although neither claims any important result from those operations. Indirect reports concerning the progress of the Russian advance on the left also are looking.

Russia's active participation in the Balkans may have begun, inasmuch as Bucharest reports Russian troops have been landed at Varna. The Bulgarians port is said to be defended by Turkish command by German officers.

GREATER SACRIFICES ARE NEEDED, SAYS ASQUITH

LONDON, Nov. 2.—In his address before the House of Commons this afternoon, Premier Asquith stated that Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces on the Franco-Belgian front, was now in command of nearly a million men. He said the total casualties in France and Flanders amounted to 277,000. He asserted the Germans had not made a net gain of a foot since April.

The premier accepted his full share of responsibility for the first attack on the Ypres salient, which was a failure with the loss of several capital ships. He said this attack was made after full investigation and consultation with naval experts, and that it was sanctioned by the government, notwithstanding some doubts in the minds of the government's principal advisers.

Reviewing the work of the British submarines in the Turkish campaign, he said in the Sea of Marmora they had sunk or damaged two battleships, five gunboats, one torpedo boat, eight transporters and 127 supply ships.

Mr. Asquith said there was full agreement between Great Britain and France to maintain the independence of Serbia and along the line of the prey of the sinister and nefarious combination of Germany, Austria and Bulgaria.

The premier asserted the financial position of Great Britain was sound and that the nation must be prepared to make greater sacrifices than it has yet done to enable it to sustain the burden of the war.

VILLA FAILS TO TAKE AGUA
PRIETA AFTER FOUR ATTACKS

Troops Withdrawn After All-Night
Fighting; Bullets Rain in Douglas, Arizona.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 2.—After four desperate attacks on Agua Prieta which kept the Carranza defenses blazing all night with machine guns and bursting shells, General Villa drew off shortly after daylight today. At that time eight persons on the American side of the line had been wounded. Losses of the Carranza soldiers were reported by General Calles as 45 killed and 75 wounded, although Villa's reports stated his casualties were 250. Villa died and wounded in three numbers were scattered over the desert.

The battle continued practically without intermission from yesterday afternoon at 1:15 until 6 o'clock this morning. At 3 o'clock Villa launched his second attack. The Carranza troops, who with their men were in the trenches facing the border all night, pronounced the firing the most violent they had ever heard.

No more was made by any of the United States army detachments to return the fire. Mines exploded by Calles west of Agua Prieta killed 300 Yaquis, according to reports from the Mexican town.

One Mexican woman refugee lost a finger by a bullet. Two thousand three hundred refugees were concentrated at a camp at Piedras Blancas, a suburb of Douglas. They are practically without water and food.

Villa's soldiers, although weak from want of food and water, expressed grim determination to force their way to Agua Prieta no matter at what cost. Another attempt will be made to storm Agua Prieta during the afternoon, Villa officers declared today.

"This time," said they, "we are going in; we will be in Agua Prieta, full."

General Panama arrived at 7:45 A. M. to assume command of the American forces.

SLAG IS BLAMED
FOR NASTY TASTE
OF LOCAL WATERSuperintendent Little Declares Will Along B. & O.
Causes It.

FILTERS UNABLE TO PURIFY IT

Chemist Declares That Taste May be Unpleasant, but Water is Harmless
So Far as Humans are Concerned.
Even If It Is Hard on Bathers.

Slag dumped in the Youghiogheny river by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad just above the pumping station of the Connellsville Water Company has given the residents of that town a bad taste in their mouths. Superintendent H. V. Little of the water company declared today that he could account for the peculiar taste in no other way than that the Baltimore & Ohio slag deposits were causing it. He said he had as yet made no effort to stop the dumping of this material along the river bank, but would probably do so after a further investigation. The Baltimore & Ohio is making some extensive fills along the river between Greene Junction and Indian Creek, but if it is found that such deposits are injurious to the water, steps can be taken to prevent more slag from being dumped.

G. W. Loeth, teacher of chemistry at the high school, who has done considerable industrial chemistry work, today expressed the opinion that no poisons were contained in the slag deposits.

The effect of slag upon the water, he said, would be to give it a metallic taste, an iron color and make it very hard. If the filters of the water company are all right, he declared, no monthly particles could get through into the drinking water, but the calcium from the slag would have an injurious effect upon heating systems. Loeth, however, is making an analysis of the slag, and he said he is not sure that the water is so much different from other days but the taste makes it unpalatable, hence the complaint.

UNIONTOWN HEARS OF BIG
LOAN TO J. V. THOMPSONFinancier is in New York, Together
With Committee From the Bar Association.

Another extension was made yesterday in the affairs of Joseph V. Thompson, chief agent and formerly president of the First National Bank of Uniontown, when the attorneys representing his creditors gave him until tomorrow to make some financial statement in regard to present suits being filed to collect him. Thompson is now in New York trying to raise between $25,000 and $30,000 to satisfy his creditors. It was reported that his mission was successful, but attorneys representing his creditors stated they had no confirmation of the report.

Nearly all the members of the Payette County Bar Association representing Thompson's creditors, and the creditors' affairs are practically being guarded by the bar association, of which Attorney H. S. Dumbauld of Uniontown is president.

On Saturday a committee of attorneys representing the Thompson creditors, composed of A. P. Cooper, H. L. Robinson and M. M. Cochran, went to New York to ascertain the possibility of Thompson raising the vast amount of needed money from New York financiers. At the meeting of the committee yesterday afternoon it was reported that Attorney Cooper of the committee had telephoned from New York to Uniontown that by reason of a train delay he, Robinson and Cochran had been unable to keep appointments with Thompson and had nothing definite to report. The committee then extended the time for action to tomorrow afternoon.

The committee in the interim will interview the New York financiers from whom Thompson is trying to secure the loan. Creditors of Thompson were anxious for news from New York. The rumor that he had obtained the loan was cheerfully received, Thompson and the committee are expected in Uniontown by tomorrow morning.

SCHOOL BOARD TO TEST LEGALITY OF RECENT CONTRACTSAsks Solicitor Whether Directors Can Participate in the Business.

TWO OF THEM NOW INTERESTED

Director Shaw's Partner Gets Insurance Policies, Director Long's Company Lends Coal Contract; New Teacher Elected in the High School.

Whether a school director may participate directly or indirectly in the awarding of school contracts is to be decided by a written opinion by H. G. May, solicitor for the board. This was requested by J. R. Davidson at last night's meeting of the school board. He stated that he supplies the schools with some materials, but he has hesitated to go in for large contracts because of being a director, though he declared he could save the board money. R. K. Long, who is manager of the Connellsville Coal Company, which received the contract to supply coal to the schools this winter, also declared that he would like to see this matter settled. Mr. Davidson said that a letter to Superintendent of Public Instruction H. G. May, solicitor, had brought out a vague reply.

The same matter was brought up by J. D. Porter who addressed the board relative to an insurance policy which had been taken from him and awarded to T. S. Harner. He expressed doubt as to whether Mr. Harner was an authorized agent, declaring that he had known of no policies written by him before.

"If the intention of the board is to award this insurance to Shaw & Harner, why not state it that way?" he asked. Mr. Porter declared that he had no objection to Shaw & Harner getting their share of school insurance but thought that the firm's name should appear on the policies and not T. S. Harner, one member. Lloyd Shaw, a school director, is Harner's partner.

Praised for an explanation by Mr. Younklin and later by President Hays, Director L. J. Shaw declared that T. S. Harner is an authorized agent, and the policy would be written that way. An examination of the policy in question by members of the board showed it to be countersigned by "T. S. Harner, agent." Mr. Porter declared it was the first policy he had seen but through that way.

The reading of minutes of the special meeting at which the insurance was awarded disclosed the fact that Directors Hestel and McClure had voted against awarding this policy to Harner.

The question of whether directors may participate in the award of contracts, directly or indirectly, is to be decided by a legal opinion.

The resignation of Arthur L. Bowerman, teacher of Latin in the high school, on account of ill health, was accepted, and Miss LaVerne Delin of Conowingo, Md., a classroom of Miss Jennie Weaver, another high school teacher, at Syracuse University, was elected at a salary of $100 a month. Miss Delin has had five years experience as a teacher and she took up Mr. Bowerman's classes yesterday.

Several weeks ago the condition of Mr. Bowerman's eyes became so bad that he handed in his resignation. He had been somewhat and reconsidered his decision to resign. In the meantime, however, the school authorities had been negotiating with teachers to fill the vacancy, so when his actually resigned Miss Delin was secured yesterday.

The report of E. D. Munson and J. M. Grey, school auditors, surcharging the board $43.47, and their supplementary report striking the surcharge off, were received and filed. Their bill of $142 for making the audit and the additional bill of $25 for striking it off, were both ordered paid, since the court had approved of the charges. This is the highest price ever paid for a school audit.

"I just wish I had a chance to vote against that," declared President C. W. Hays.

By a unanimous vote of the board it was decided to keep Connellsville on the map by sending Superintendent S. P. Ashe and Principal B. B. Smith to the National Educational Association convention in Detroit and to the State Educational Association meeting in Scranton.

A letter from H. C. Hays asking that the board execute the lease on Payette Field before November 15, was read. The property committee was instructed to go back to Mr. Hays with a proposal to share equally in the payment of $111 back taxes. Directors declared that inasmuch as Mr. Hays received considerable from the field before he turned it over to the school, he ought to be public spirited enough at least to pay half of the taxes. Chances of getting new members from council were admitted to be slight.

Two policies for $1,000 each, insuring the furniture in the Fourth Ward and High School buildings, were awarded to Henry Goldsmith.

Director Younklin of the Finance committee reported that the settlement of the Miller tax duplicates was nearing completion.

Treasurer Potts reported a balance of $23,732.24 in the general fund and one of $6,339.93 in the sinking fund.

Members present were: J. R. Davidson, C. W. Hays, C. R. Hestel, R. K. Long, F. E. Younklin, and L. J. Shaw.

ELECTION INTEREST CENTERS
IN THE BATTLE FOR SUFFRAGE

Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts are Battling for Votes for Women Today.

The chief interest in elections being held in 10 states today appeared to center in the proposition for granting suffrage to women, submitted to the voters of New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

Voters of Massachusetts, Maryland and Kentucky are also battling for governor and other state officers, while state wide prohibition is the feature of the Ohio election and other state or local issues are before the people of New Jersey, Mississippi, Michigan and Virginia.

Generally fair weather prevailed throughout New York state and a heavy early vote was reported. In all instances the woman suffrage question appeared to be the chief interest and the proposed new constitution ranked second. In New York city women watchers were at every polling booth.

Mail fair weather also prevailed throughout Massachusetts and a heavy early vote was reported. Women allied with the suffrage cause continued their campaign during the day.

Early reports indicated a large vote in Pennsylvania, where the suffragists were also active. A spirited majority contest in Philadelphia added to the general interest in the election.

There was much interest in the gubernatorial contest in Kentucky and, in addition to warm weather throughout the state, caused politicians to predict a vote considerably above normal.

The election in New Jersey is for six state senators and an entire lower house.

While statewide prohibition is the chief issue in Ohio, voters in many places are also confronted by important local questions.

Catholic Institution Destroyed, But

Father Boardman continued the mass until all of the children were out of the building and a large altar when the chapel was filled with smoke.

WOMEN CAMPAIGN FOR THE VOTE AT POLLING PLACESTheir Presence is Feature of the Balloting in Connellsville.

HEALTHY VOTE IS BEING CAST

Weather Conditions Favor a Heavy
Ballot Throughout the County;
Republicans Confident of Success of Whole Ticket in the County.

The presence of women at the polling places was the feature of the balloting today in Connellsville and elsewhere in the county. Aside from this there was nothing to differentiate the day from other elections, except that the balloting proceeded with fewer thrills. So far as the political workers were concerned, there was little going on in any of the seven wards except a rather methodical piling up of the vote. It was mostly Republican, too.

The absence of a real contest in the city campaign robbed the day of what otherwise might have developed some spectacular features. With only half-hearted opposition to the four councilmanic nominees on the ticket, there was, in the early balloting, no indication of a serious contest.

The Democratic campaign apparently isn't being carried to the polls. There is every indication that the Democrats realize their fight is hopeless. On the other hand, the Republicans are working to get out a good vote, and to make the majorities as large as possible. No fight is being carried on against either E. C. Higgins or E. T. Norton, Connellsville candidates on the Democratic ticket, and their counterparty in the Republican ticket. In Connellsville, however, a contest is being carried on against either E. C. Higgins or E. T. Norton, Connellsville candidates on the Democratic ticket, and their counterparty in the Republican ticket.

It was left to the women to lift the election out of the doldrums and they did so. Every ward had its quota of workers. Some of the women went from one ward to another. For the most part they were extended every courtesy by the men who were on the job. In only one ward was the board inclined to show no favors. In the First Mrs. Anna Day Schoonover, city chairman of the suffrage organization, was of the opinion that the women were doing well. She said she was not sure that the women were doing well. Mount Pleasant

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Nov. 2.—The Ministerial Association held one of the most important meetings since they have organized yesterday afternoon. The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Rev. A. W. Barley, pastor of the Reformed Church; vice president, Rev. J. E. Hartman, pastor of the Reunion Presbyterian Church; secretary and treasurer, Rev. L. C. Yahn, pastor of the Baptist Church. The Ministerial Association deemed it necessary to cooperate with local charity organizations to make the charity work of town sympathetic. By this they mean that some way be found whereby assistance shall be rendered to all those who are truly in need of help while at the same time preventing, as far as possible, the giving of aid to such as are in position to help themselves. To make a move in this direction, Rev. J. E. Hartman was appointed a committee to appeal to the council for an ordinance regulating the habits of houses to house keeping within the borough limits. The Ministerial Association still have on hand funds contributed during the tabernacle meetings two years ago for the purpose of establishing young men's reading rooms, may be placed in the hands of L. Yahn was appointed a committee to ascertain the will of the Bible classes with reference to this matter. Owing to the necessary absence from the city of Rev. C. P. Sullivan who was chosen to preach the Thanksgiving sermon, Rev. J. E. Hartman, an alternate, will take his place on that occasion.

The school board held their regular monthly meeting last evening and schools were ordered closed on Thanksgiving day and the following day. The attendance officer was instructed to begin legal action against parents who fail to keep their children in school. The secretary was instructed to notify Solicitor Eugene Warden that he should be present at the next meeting and also his opinion concerning the organization of a continuation school, required by the child labor law to go into effect January 1, 1916.

Council held its regular monthly meeting last evening and all bills were ordered paid and the burgess' check of $114 was received. Rev. Tammill of the Methodist Episcopal Mission was present and asked that since property that is used for church purposes is free of tax and sewer assessment that the lien filed against this mission for that purpose be satisfied. A motion was adopted by council to see that the claim made by Rev. Tammill be satisfied. The street between the railroad tracks at the east end of town were ordered repaired. After much discussion it was decided that the local borough was very badly in need of fire hose and they have decided to advertise for bids. The matter of the alley sewer, 4th and 5th avenue sewer and Smithfield street sewer was put in the hands of the sewer committee.

Why a REGAL Trade-Marked
Shoe Spells Economy to You

THE trade-mark on a shoe—just as on a garment or a canister of coffee—means that the reputation of the manufacturer stands behind the quality of the article.

And this, in a Regal, means that a quarter of a century's volume shoe-production and distribution to all parts of the world assures you that shoes trade-marked REGAL represent the utmost style and value that can be "built into" them at the price.

You can pay more for less value, but you can't buy more shoe value for $4.00.

THIRST CORN DOWN

By-Product Plant at Duluth Is Now Operating.

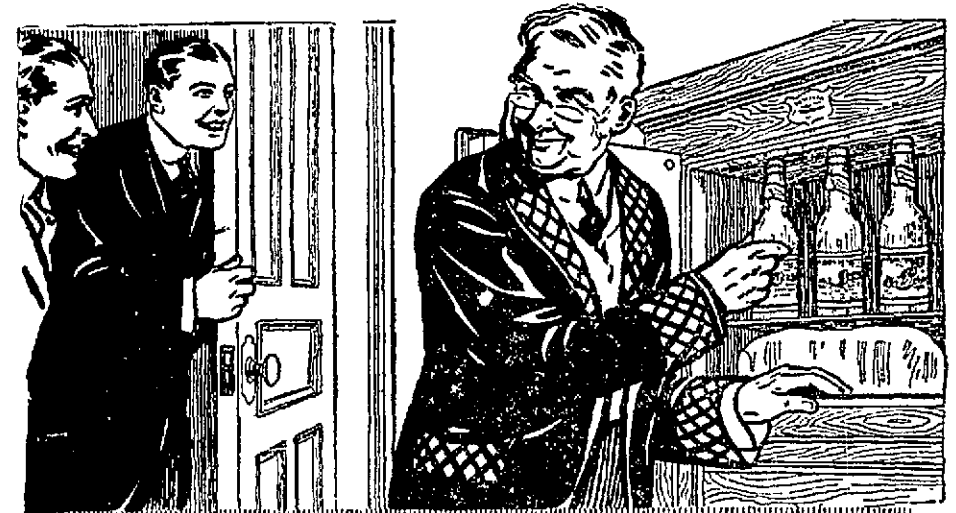

The first charge of by-product coke was removed from the ovens of the new plant of the Minnesota Steel Company at Duluth last week. The gas from these ovens which require about 1,500 tons of coal daily, will be used in heating the open hearth furnaces and in the reheating ovens in the rolling mill. The other by-products such as tar, sulphate, liquid ammonia, etc., will be handled in a plant adjoining the ovens.

It is expected the first of the two blast furnaces to go into operation will be placed about the first week in November, while the second will be put into operation shortly after.

TO OVERCOME NERVOUS DYSPERSIA

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

Nervous people, as a rule, suffer greatly from dyspepsia. The minute things go wrong or something upsets the nerves, or they are tired and overworked, they feel it in their stomach. Appetite vanishes and gives way to dull, drowsy sluggishness, and when they do eat doesn't digest properly. Then comes belching, heart burn, sour rising, and a whole train of distressing symptoms.

Nervous dyspepsia should never be treated with pepsin pills or artificial digestants. The stomach is a sensitive organ, and the nerves that control it should at such a time, be calmed and strengthened, when all stomach distress will quickly cease, appetite will return, and the stomach with digest its food properly, and an entire recovery.

Thanks to a reliable chemical discovery, it is now possible to feed the nerve cells with the exact stimulus they require when overworked and straining, and a preparation called Mergo is producing remarkable results in the treatment of Nervous Dyspepsia, and other nerve disorders. It makes a remarkable change in any person in ten minutes by the watch, strengthening the stomach and charging the nerve cells with strength, power, and tremendous reserve energy, and giving nerves of steel, a clear, bright, and hearty, content, power, quick wit, and real vim. Mergo cannot harm anyone; it contains no dope or dangerous habit-forming drugs. Forty tablets come in a large package, and this is enough to give lasting relief to even the most obstinate case. Laughery Drug Co. and other leading druggists everywhere are selling them with a positive guarantee of satisfaction, or money back.—Adv.

REPLY TO COMMISSION

Ohio Roads Will Contest Efforts to Eliminate Coal-Hauling Costs.

Contract for Ohio railroads, to whom the Interstate Vain Operators Association addressed a number of interrogations through the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, notified the commission that they would contest the efforts to have them disclose details of their coal-hauling costs.

D. P. Goshlin, acting for the operators, that filed the questions, started, however, to inspect reports of earnings and tariffs filed heretofore by the Baltimore & Ohio, the New York Central, the Pennsylvania and the Wheeling & Lake Erie roads, which had coal from Eastern Ohio fields.

His object was said to be to make an analysis of coal-hauling costs of these roads similar to that of the Rocking Valley Railroad by G. W. Hillman, an expert.

Hearings in the Interstate coal case were postponed until November 22, on account of the illness of the railroad's counsel and the enforced absence of Mr. Hillman while working on a rate case in Florida.

MYERSDALE

MYERSDALE, Nov. 1.—After an intermission during the summer months the Myersdale Lyceum held its first meeting for the winter season last Friday evening in Amity Hall. The subject for the evening was "The Subject in Rural Districts." W. W. Thayer presided and made some introductory remarks, in which he called attention to the high standard of the papers read last season, but said that the discussions of the subjects by members of the audience had not been what was desired, not enough of men and women taking part therein, and experienced the hope that hereafter more general discussion would be had of the topics before the lyceum.

Mr. L. L. Goughenour then read a very thorough and complete paper on the subject above mentioned. The next evening will be held on the last Friday evening of November, when a discussion will take place between Fred Rowe, Jr., and Frank A. Bitter on the question as to whether the United States ought to have a large army and navy.

See our special Club offer on page 7.

Mr. W. H. Collins, who had been employed by the Myersdale Brewing Company for several years, met his death on Saturday evening by being thrown from a wagon which he was driving. He had been to Altoona and Garrett, where he had delivered a load of beer during the day. It was about 6 o'clock when he was returning home and the accident occurred near Salisbury Junction about one mile west of Salisbury, where by turning out of the road for an automobile he lost control of the wagon, which then ran forward, breaking his neck. He lived about 20 minutes but never spoke.

Mr. Collins was a very industrious man and held the esteem of all who knew him. He is survived by his wife and three children, who reside on High street. His funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 3, at 2 o'clock, at the residence of his wife, Mrs. W. H. Collins, at 1215 High street. Burial will be made in the Union cemetery.

Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandruff-hair cleanser and draw it through your hair, taking out small strands at a time. This will loosen the hair of dust and dandruff, and in just a few moments you will have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Brushes the hair at once, dandruff disappears every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use when you will actually see new hair—thick and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and the beauty of your hair at once, get a 25-cent bottle of "Dandruff-hair cleanser" from any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it.

New-Way Wonder for Corns, "Gets-It"

The Big Surprise for Corn Owners.

It's sure, simple, safe, quick. Listen to the true story of "Gets-It," the world's greatest corn remedy. It's a short story—only about 100 feet—Mary had a little "Gets-It" and corns upon her foot, and every time she put on "Gets-It," the corn was sure to go. Mary like thousands of others, used to be a heroine, suffering many pangs, using painful bandages, irritating salves, sticky tape, toe-liners, blood-letting, rubs, and poultices. She was now there's no sense in it. "Gets-It" applied in 2 seconds. Easy, simple, new way—just rub corns common sense! Millions are doing it. Never fails. You can wear smaller shoes now. You don't have to limp around any more. You walk on the side of your shoes to try to get away from your corns. Your knee for sure, but no more use "Gets-It" that the corn or callus is going away. For corns, calluses, warts and bunions.

"Gets-It" is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by D. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in Conneltsville and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by A. A. Clarke, Laughery Drug Co., Fred C. Harmoning, J. C. Moore.—Adv.

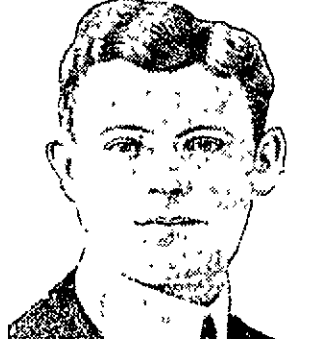

Indigestion May be Due to Constipation

Neglect of Important Functions May Seriously Impair the Health.

There are many people who believe they suffer from indigestion when their discomfort is really due to a constipated condition.

Most, with its attendant ment it depression, sick-headache, the belching of your stomach gases, etc., are frequently due to indigestion of the bowels. Before the congestion and the trouble usually disappears. The use of cathartics and purgatives should be avoided, however, these shock the system unnecessarily and at best, their effect is but temporary. A mild laxative is far preferable.

The compound of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle is highly recommended. It is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which he is glad to recommend to all who suffer

DR. CALDWELL

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be in every home for use when occasion arises. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. H. Caldwell, 171 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

1914 A BAD YEAR FOR COKE TRADE, U. S. DATA SHOWS

Geological Survey Reveals the Dark Days of the Industry.

TONNAGE SMALL; PRICES LOW

By-Product Plants Not Affected So Seriously as the Bed-Block Producers, but Output of Both Branches
Falls Considerably Below 1914.

The production of coke in 1914 was the smallest, except in 1909, in ten years, or since 1905, and amounted to 34,555,911 short tons valued at $88,341,217, says the Geological Survey. Compared with 1913, when the production was 45,299,550 short tons, valued at $128,522,273, the output in 1914 decreased 11,743,639 short tons, or 25.9 per cent, in quantity and $40,181,056, or 31.3 per cent, in value.

The value of coke has a marked tendency to follow the rate of production, answering in a general way to the law of supply and demand. Prices in 1914 fell gradually, with slackening demand and decline in output, from the beginning of the year to the end, the result being an average value obtained at the mines of $2.56, as compared with $2.78 in 1913. The decline in value was shared almost equally by bed-block and by-product coke, the former declining from $2.39 to $2.15, or ten per cent, and the latter from $3.92 to $3.59, or eleven per cent.

The cost of coal to the manufacturer per ton of coke produced in 1914 was $2.156, or practically the same as in 1913, $2.169, and this fact, considered with the decrease in average value for the coke, indicates that the actual returns to the producers were relatively less in 1914 than in 1913.

Of the 34,555,911 tons of coke made in 1914 in the United States, 23,325,571 tons were bed-block or oven coke, valued at $50,254,970, and 11,230,340 tons, valued at $38,086,247, were by-product or retort coke. In 1913 the production of oven coke was 33,541,330 tons, valued at $90,291,121, and that of retort coke was 12,758,220 tons, valued at $48,231,152. From this it appears that only 12.7 per cent of the decrease in quantity was in by-product coke and 75.3 per cent was in oven coke.

The decrease in the production of retort coke in 1914 was 1,191,757 short tons, or 11.3 per cent; the bed-block output decreased 10,218,859 tons, or 30.5 per cent. With the exception of two years, 1909 and 1911, the production of by-product coke has increased each year since the last output was completed at Syracuse, N. Y., in 1901. Except in 1909 the percentage of by-product coke to the total has increased each year. In 1901 it was 6.1; in 1910 it was 17.1; in 1912 it was 27.2; in 1913 it was 27.5; and in 1914, 32.5.

The average value per ton for oven coke in 1914 was $2.15, valued at $2.35 in 1913. The average value for retort coke was $3.59 in 1914 as compared with $3.92 in 1913. As explained in previous reports, the higher value of retort coke is due not to the superior quality of that product but to the fact that the retort ovens are located at considerable distances from the coal mines and at or near the centers of consumption, where markets for the coke are available, hence the expense of transportation is borne by the coal and added to the value of the coke. The bed-block and similar types of ovens are, on the other hand, located in the immediate vicinity of the mines and the expenses of transportation are borne by the coke, and the bed-block coke thus costs the ultimate consumer as much as the apparently higher-priced retort coke.

Connellsville coke has, for many years been the standard furnace coke of the United States and the Connellsville region is the only one for which weekly reports on the trade conditions are made to the technical journals. The Connellsville Courier presents each week a comprehensive review of the conditions affecting the demand and the prices for the coke, which has been the mainstay of the industry of the region.

The cost consumed in the manufacture of coke in 1914 was $1,622,750 short tons, valued at $7,191,555, as compared with $1,529,150 tons, valued at $6,951,129 in 1913. The value of the coke made in 1914 was $88,341,217, the difference between the cost of the coal and the value of the coke made in 1914 being $86,718,467, which, less the cost of manufacture and expense of administration, represents the profits on the coke-making operations. In 1913 the value of the coke was $128,522,273, and the difference between this and the cost of the coal was $23,569,834.

In 1913 there was a net increase of 129 in the total number of ovens, although 2,332 ovens, all of the bed-block type, were abandoned during that year. At the close of 1914 they were 2,395 less ovens in existence than at the beginning of the year. There were 192 retort ovens constructed during the year, out of a total of 579, so that the new installations of bed-block or partial combustion type aggregated 587. The total number of ovens and retorts in operation in the United States decreased in 1914 from 192,650 to 197,255, a net loss of 2,395. As the retort ovens showed an increase of 121, there was a net decrease of 2,516 in the number of bed-block ovens in existence in 1914 compared with 1913. In addition to the number of ovens abandoned during 1914 there were 15,117 beds, of which 667 were retorts and 14,450 were bed-block ovens. The 11,530 beds bed-block ovens included 21,891, which were the entire equipment of 177 bed-block establishments. The statement regarding the number of beds which were idle during the year and those not included in the output in 1914. The number of ovens and retorts at the close of the year of a portion of 1914 was 61,638, as compared with 72,198 active ovens and retorts in 1913. The 54,638 active ovens and retorts included 5,112 retorts and 49,526 bed-block ovens. The 1,142 retorts produced a total of 12,758,220 tons of coke, the average production for each retort was nearly 2,300 tons; the 49,526 bed-block ovens produced 22,577,340 tons, or an average of a little over 170 tons per oven. In 1913 there were 5,531 retorts which produced an average of 2,300 tons, or oven and 66,177 bed-block ovens which produced an average of 565 tons per oven. The new ones in 1914 improved 1,210, of which 844 were retorts and 665 were bed-block ovens.

The tendency to consolidate into large units is exhibited in the manufacture of coke, as in other branches of industry, and the number of coke-making establishments has shown a steady decrease since 1909, when, on December 31, there were 579 coke-making establishments in the United States. At the close of 1914 the number of establishments had decreased to 528, at the base of 1911 to 570, in 1912 to 550, in 1913 to 531, and in 1914 to 528. Although the total number of establishments in the United States decreased 15 in 1914, the number of by-product plants increased four, whereas the plants using bed-block ovens decreased 19. There were 221 coke-making establishments at the close of 1914. Four of the new establishments with a total of 171 ovens were retorts with a total of 121 ovens were bed-block ovens.

The best record of the quantity of coke made in the United States was in 1899, when, according to the report of the Tenth United States Census, the production is stated to have been 3,528,300 short tons. The annual production since 1899 has been published in this series of reports, the present chapter completing the record of thirty-five years, which is shown in the following table:

Of the fifteen coke-producing states for which the statistics may be separately published, there were three in which the production increased in 1914, and twelve in which the output declined. More than 79 per cent of the total decrease was in Pennsylvania, which showed a decrease of 8,955,571 short tons out of a total for the United States of 11,743,639 tons. The largest percentage of decrease was in Georgia, which was 18,229 tons, or 12.7 per cent, loss of 19.1 per cent and New York with 13,717 tons, or 11.1 per cent. In order of percentage of decrease, Ohio with a gain of 169,792 tons, or 18.1 per cent; Kentucky, with 128,000 tons, or 10 per cent; and Washington, with 5,792 tons, or 1.1 per cent, were the only states reported separately that recorded increases in 1914.

CHAPTER XVIII.
"Eve" and "Adam."

Adam and Eve had gone to bed, and the door had been locked. Eve, alone in the room, had retired to the side steps, determined to be invisible no matter who called—and wait.

And for an hour there I sat alone in that waning old moonlight that grew colder and paler by the minute, while the stiff breeze that poured down from Old Harpeth began to be vicious and try as it nipped my ears and hands and nose and sent a chill down to my very toes.

Nobody came, and there I sat. Finally, with the tears tugging at my eyes, I got up and went into the house and unlocked the door and the door was open. They had been all ready for the torch for a whole year, just as I had lain for a lifetime until a few weeks ago. Then suddenly they blazed—as I had done.

My condition was pitiable. I felt that all nature had deserted me, the climate, the Indian summer, the harvest moon and my own chair, but my head was up and I was going to crackle pluckily along to my bliss, so I turned toward the door to go across the road and put my fate to the test even if I took pneumonia standing legless at his front door. I hoped I would find him in the lodge and—

"Evelina," he exclaimed as he burst open my door, flung himself into the hall and closed the door like a robber.

He was like a robber of the twelfth century making a grab for his jewelry in the midst of her hostile kindred. "I thought I would never get here! I ran all the way up from the office. Here's a telegram from Mr. Hall that says that the two roads have merged and will take the bluff route past Glendale and give us the shops and wants to appoint me the general attorney for the southern section. They want me to come on to New York by the first train. Can you marry me in the morning, so we can take the moon express from Baltimore? I won't go without you. Please, dear, please! And as he stood and looked at me in the twilight all the roller and excitement over his news died out.

"Adam!" I let myself go, and at last pressed my answer against his lips.

of his lovely eyes, and just the want of me filled them from their very depths.

For several interminable centuries of time I stood perfectly still and looked into them dazedly, drinking in all for the first time and offering him a like cup in my own.

"Eve," he said so softly that I doubt if he really spoke the word.

"Adam!" I let myself go, and at last pressed my answer against his lips as he folded me tight and safe.

It must have been some time after, I am sure I don't know how long, but I was most beautifully adjusted against his shoulder, and he had my hand pressed to his cheek, when the awfulness of what had happened brought me straight up on my own feet and almost out of his arms.

"Oh, how could you have done it!" I fairly wailed as I thought of what this awful complication was going to lose for the five, to whom I felt more tender in that second than I had ever felt before.

"How what?" he demanded in alarm, pressing both my hands against his breast and drawing me toward him again.

"Asked me to marry you when I—"

"I have been fighting desperately to see some way to offer myself and all my impediments to you all this time, and this has made it all right, don't you see, dear?" he interrupted me to say as he took possession of me again and held me with a tender fierceness which had more of suffering in it than passion. "I have always wanted you, Eve, since before you went away, but it didn't seem right to ask you to come into a life so encumbered as mine was. Poverty made it seem impossible, but now, if you will be just a little patient with me, I can arrange it."

"I was going to arrange all that myself, and now just see what you have done to me and a whole lot of other women, besides making me miserable all summer," and crowded so close under his chin that he couldn't see my face, I told him all about the tinder box Jane had loaded and then set me on the lid to see that it exploded.

I had just worked myself up to the point of how my incendiary tubular was about to touch off all the other love affairs in town when he began to shake as with disrespectful laughter that I felt that my dignity was about to demand that I withdraw coldly from his arms, where I had just got so warm and comfortable and at home.

But with the first slight intimation of my intention, which was conveyed by a very feeble indeed loosening of my arms from around his throat, Clay called he held me firmly against him and controlled his unseemly mirth, only I could still feel it convulsing his left lung, though, as I had no business being near enough to notice it, I felt it only faintly not to.

"Please don't worry about those other five dear women," he begged in the sweetest and most considerate voice possible so that I tightened my arms again as I thought, "If Miss Mothers doesn't feel justified in giving up the dowry by your failure to prove the proposition we can just invite them all down here, and in Glendale and Bolivar and Hillsboro and Providence, to say nothing of the countryside, we can plant them all easily. I can deliberately explain to their choice exactly how to let them manage circumstances like this."

He illustrated his scheme just here until it took time for me to get breath to listen to the rest of his apology—(this, and there is no telling, with such a start as the cult has got in the Harpeth valley already, how far it will spread. Please forgive me, dear!)

"Yes," I answered doubtfully. Then I rubbed my head and looked him full in the face as I made my declaration calmly, but with the perfect conviction that I still have and always will have, world without end. "Yes; but don't you think for one minute I don't know that what Jane and I and all the most advanced women in the world are trying for is the right and just and the only way for men and women to come together in the kind of heritage you and I have stumbled into. Absolute freedom and equality between all human beings is going to be the price of kingdom come. I shall always be humiliated that I got scared out in the graveyard and didn't do it to you. It is going to be the regret of my life."

"Truly, I'm sorry, sweetheart," he answered me tenderly. "If I were to take my hat and go back to the gate and come in again properly and let you do it, would that make you feel any better?"

"No, it wouldn't," I answered quickly because why should I be separated from him all the two and a half minutes it would take to play out that farce, when I have been separated from him all the twenty-five years that stretch from now back until the day of my birth? "I am going to bear it bravely and hold up my head and tell Jane!"

"I wouldn't bother to hold up my head to tell her, Evelina," came from the doorway in Polk's delighted drawl as he and Jane stepped into the room. "Pretty comfortably placed, that head, I should say."

"Oh, Jane!" I positively wailed as I extracted myself from the Crags' arms and buried myself in Jane's white arms as she opened to receive me. And the seconds that I rested silently there Polk spent in shaking both of the Crags' hands and pounding him on the back so that I grew alarmed.

"I didn't do it, Jane, I didn't do it," I almost sobbed with fear of what hot disappointment was going to be. "It's best me to it!"

"Truly, I'm sorry," Cousin James added to my apology as he stood with his arm on Polk's shoulder.

"I dare you—dare you to tell 'em, Jane," Polk suddenly said, coming over and putting a hand on one of my shoulders and one on Jane's.

"Evelina and Mr. Harpeth," Jane answered gallantly with her head assuming its lovely independent pose, but with the most wonderful blush spreading the beauty that always ought to have been here all over her one time plain face, "the wicker stands as won by Evelina Shelby. She had properly prepared the ground and sowed the seed of justice and right thinking that I harvested tonight. I had the honor of offering marriage to Mr. Harpeth just about fifteen minutes ago. I consider that mode of procedure proved as feasible and as soon as I have received my answer, whatever it is, I shall immediately proceed with making the endowment and choosing the five young women according to the agreement."

"Polk!" I exclaimed, turning to him in a perfect state of alarm. Could he be trifling with Jane?

"Evelina," answered Polk, giving me a shake and a shove over in the direction of the Crags, "you ought to know me better than to think I would answer such a question as Jane put to me while driving a cranky car in waning moonlight. If you and James will just mercifully betake yourselves out there on the porch in the cold for a few minutes I will try and add my duty to this equality experiment with due dignity. Go!"

We went.

"Love woman," whispered the Crags, after I had broken it to him that we were going to be a governor of Tennessee and not a railroad attorney and he had crowned his "Swing low" over me and rocked me against his breast for a century of seconds down on my old front gate, "you are right about the whole question. I saw that, and I want help. But if I'm stupid about life will you hold my hand in the dark?"

"Yes," I answered, with both generosity and courage.

And truly if the world is in the dark of the dawn of a new day when men and women do but cling tight and feel their way—together?

THE END.

A War and Peace Dialogue

War: "Twas ever thus, 'twill ever be. War is a grim necessity."

Peace: "What was to part; what is must cease. The claims of war be not in peace."

War: "When does a nation's right lie in duty bound to fight."

Peace: "The nobler nation seeks redress Of wrongs in calm deliberation."

War: "When rankling wounds cause conflagration, The god of war shouts arbitration."

Peace: "A world laid waste for 'duty's sake.' When duty it were a world to make."

War: "Alliance to our flag must be To quell—destroy the enemy."

Peace: "Our enemies bear the pen and seal, Life pledged to serve the peace ideal."

War: "To bespeak man's strength and power, His glory is in conquest's hour."

Peace: "Man's glory lies in reason's might, In battle brave for truth and right."

War: "Our flag means force—armed strategy; Means capture, freedom, victory!"

Peace: "Our banner bears where'er unfurled Means justice, peace, throughout the world."

AMERICAN TRADE SCOUTS
BLAZE WORLDWIDE TRAIL.

Flying Squad of Commerce Department to Visit South America.

A flying squad of government commercial scouts will prepare the way for an American invasion of world markets heretofore dominated by Europe. Under plans perfected by Dr. E. E. Pratt, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, agents will be sent to South America, Africa, Australia and the far east, covering practically the whole world except the European war area, their reports to be submitted to American manufacturers.

Juan Tomas and Frank H. von Moltz will make a worldwide investigation of the market for agricultural implements, home starting in South Africa and covering Australia and probably the far east. Von Moltz will cover the South American continent.

Special Agent Edwin M. Borchard already has begun an exhaustive investigation of the commercial laws of South America and will draft a working manual of the legal conditions of business in every country on the southern continent.

Special Agent Walter Fischer, investigating the fruit markets of South America, now is touring fruit districts of the United States to determine the possibilities of export trade. Special Agent R. M. Odell is in China studying the cotton goods market, with particular reference to Japanese competition, while F. U. Smith is preparing a world review of the lumber industry.

To supplement this work Commercial Agent Howe will visit all parts of the United States and confer with commercial organizations, manufacturers and merchants, telling of the development work in progress.

In the last fiscal year the commerce bureau has handled nearly 6,000 trade opportunities, which resulted directly in exports of about $125,000,000 when commensurate to manufacturers.

WOULD YOU HAVE DONE IT?

Convicts in Auto at Spokane Foresee Collision, but Do Not Jump.

Thirty-seven convicts on a motor-truck which was crowding a railroad truck near Spokane, Wash., realized a collision was inevitable but they did not jump for fear of being shot by armed guards following in another automobile.

The engine crashed into the truck, and seven of the prisoners were severely injured, two probably fatally. Twenty others sustained cuts and bruises.

EASY WAY TO MAKE HAIR ATTRACTIVE

Ladies May Aid to Their Appearance With Little Trouble.

Ladies who find trouble in properly or attractively arranging and dressing their hair should try using a little Parisian Sage twice daily for a while and note the remarkable improvement. Parisian Sage, which can be obtained from A. A. Clarke or any drug counter, makes the hair soft, lustrous, fluffy and wavy, takes out the dull, lifeless appearance, dissolves the dandruff and stimulates the hair roots into active normal action. Instead of merely sprinkling the hair, it should be rubbed right into the scalp with the finger tips. Parisian Sage is a delightful treatment for both hair and scalp, cannot possibly injure the hair and is very inexpensive.—Adv.
